

re·treat

Pet Safe Plants, at a Glance*

Please remember that while these plants are considered safe for pets by the ASPCA, these plants should never be part of a pet's diet. The ingestion of any of these plants may still cause your furry friend stomach discomfort, vomiting, or diarrhea. They are not, however, considered life threatening.

We always recommend keeping all plants safely out of reach of curious eaters, even non-toxic plants. Please remember we are not experts, and this guide is to be used as a starting point. Please consult your vet, and do your own research on any plants you purchase. Thank you.

Plant considered non-toxic to pets that we frequently carry, in alphabetical order:

- Aluminum Plant
- Baby's Tears
- Bamboo
- Banana Plant
- Calatheas
  - Calathea Lancifolia, Calathea Madallion, Calathea Ornata
- Candycorn Plant
- Christmas Cactus
- (Most) Ferns
  - Bird's Nest Crispy Wave, Lemon Button Fern, Maidenhair Fern, Rabbit's foot fern
  - AVOID Plumosa and Sprengeri Fern
- Haworthia
- Kentia Palm
- Little Fantasy Pep
- Money Tree
- Neanthe Bella Palm
- Nerve Plant
- Old Man Cactus
- Peperomia
- Pepper Face
- Pink Polka Dot Plant
- Prayer Plant
- Rose Bush
- Spider Plant
- Swedish Ivy
- Purple Waffle Plant
- Wax Plant

*This sheet was created for Retreat internal use, but almost all information is provided by ASPCA, please visit their website for more information on pet-safe plants.